TELANGANA

India's 29th state Telangana came into existence only two years ago when it was inaugurated formally on June 2, 2014. However, the state is propelled by some of the best technical education institutions like Indian Institute of Technology Hyderabad and National Institute of Technology Warangal (AAAA+) and also institutions that have retained their previous year's rating namely BITS Pilani (Hyderabad Campus); IIIT Hyderabad, Jawaharlal Nehru Technological University, College of Engineering Hyderabad, and University College of Engineering, Osmania University – all with AAAA. ICFAI Foundation for Higher Education, a private deemed university improved its rating at AAA+ this year. There are in all 12 institutes in the state at AAA+.

In the Research Ranking 2016 once again there are four institutions from Telangana among the top 100 in the country - IIT Hyderabad has jumped 13 positions to 20 as compared to 2015. NIT Warangal at 37, IIIT Hyderabad at 49, and JNTUH at 72 are the other three in the listing.

PROF. D. SHOBHA RANI,
Director, St. Martin's Engineering
College, Hyderabad

The meaning, definition, requirement and purpose of education changes with the change in values, ethics, toughness of prevailing competition and new employment avenues evolving in the ever-changing society. To enter and experiment, to take risk and walk into the existing diversified career options a platform or a strong foundation is required and engineering colleges rather I would say an Engineering Degree is one such passport towards choosing from the multiple options. Most of the gateways demand sound knowledge in Science and Technology and an engineering degree caters to all. Also when one has an engineering degree there is a strong base for the fall back if things go wrong

*These colleges appear here because they have either been accredited or at least one branch of the college is preferred by students in the top one or two quartiles of the state. But we do not have sufficient data to rate them. Hence the colleges are presented here for students to research further and take a call.
