ANNEXURE-17

RESEARCH ADVISORY COMMITTEE

The Research Advisory Committee (RAC) is established to guide, promote, and monitor research activities among faculty and students within the institute. The committee provides strategic direction for research initiatives, ensuring alignment with institutional goals and emerging technological trends. It facilitates a supportive research ecosystem by encouraging innovation, interdisciplinary collaboration, and quality publications. The RAC reviews research proposals, monitors progress, and ensures adherence to ethical standards and regulatory guidelines. It also identifies funding opportunities, promotes industry–institute interaction, and supports the development of patents, projects, and consultancy activities to enhance the institute’s research profile.

Objectives:

- To guide and promote research activities among faculty and students in alignment with institutional goals.
- To review and monitor research proposals, projects, and progress to ensure quality and timely completion.
- To encourage innovation, interdisciplinary research, and publication in reputed journals.
- To identify and facilitate funding opportunities, industry collaboration, and consultancy activities.
- To ensure adherence to ethical standards, regulatory guidelines, and best research practices.
